Rockaway Beach Police And will offer Think an Attempt Was Made to Assassinate Father Murray.

NO SIGN AS TO ORIGIN.

Bullet from a Small Flobert Rifle Sped Past Clergyman's Head While He Stood on the Church Steps.

The police of Rockaway Beach are investigating what may have been an attempt to assassinate the Rev. Henry Murray, pastor of the Church of St Rose of Lima. Detective Allen, of the Rocksway Beach station, has a bullet which he dug from the massive wooden door of the church and which came within a few inches of imbedding itself

Father Murray was standing on the church steps yesterday afternoon talk-ing with a parishioner when a bullet whized by them. Father Murray re-ported the matter to the police, believing at first that some one had at-tempted to shoot him from ambush. As the bullet was evidently one from a small Flobert rifle, the police believe that it was fired by a boy.

The nearest houses are a block away and the police failed to find any evidence in any of them that the shot had been fired from there. Father Murray is said to have enemies because of his energetic vice crusades, but it is not nown that he was ever threatened trolley car coming. She called Harry, but he made no move to get off the come around a curve only a few rods away. The embankment on which she stood was nearly twenty feet high, but she managed to scramble and slide down it in time to reach the boy. With the trolley fender not ten feet away she snatched the youngster off the other side of the track. The car swept by at that moment, its brass cutting into the boy's blonde head. The motorman was arrested for high-speed running.

a passage of five days, eleven hours

How narrow was the escape of the boy and the devoted mother is shown by two head wounds from which the boy is suffering. The side bars of the strolley cut the scalp open as the car shot by. It was actually by a hair that the little fellow escaped, for, as the surgeons at the Jamaica Hospital have found, if his head had been but the least trifle nearer the car he would have been killed.

The boy is seven years old and lives at No. 240 Montrose avenue, Brookiyn.
He was playing in a railroad cut at one side of Forest aPrk when his mother, from the embankment above, heard a trolley car coming. She called Harry,
